Social. Business. Economy.

Interview - Rashmi Warang

-By Interview Team

(1) Please tell us about your journey as a teacher over these years especially with our college.

Being a daughter of school teacher, I was always fascinated by this field so I started my career as lecturer in 2003. Then after taking experience in different colleges I got attached to Dahanukar college. I started teaching over here since 2020. And it's a wonderful journey. I love interacting with new generation. I like to know their views, thoughts and perspectives looking at particular thing.

(2) As a BAF student, how can one make a career in the field of Media and Content Writing?

Media or content writing is a field where instead of being from particular stream, you require few qualities and skills. Like understanding the depth of situation, understanding all sides of particular matter, presenting something in your own style. As BAF student if someone inherit this qualities, they can definitely make their way in media or content writing.

(3) How can an individual overcome their stage fear?

Stage fear is moreover your psychological fear of being on stage. Many times many people hold them back with this fear which is absolute wrong thing to do. Infact facing the stage as many times as possible is best thing to come over this fear. More you appear there, despite of quality of performance, fear goes away. And when you are hundred percent prepared with presentation, you feel less nervous. Most of the time fear of stage comes when you are not prepared. So taking as many chances to be on the stage and taking hundred percent efforts for preparation is best solution

(4) What advice would you give to your students for improving their body language which would help them reflect confidence and positivity.

Body language plays vital role in your personality. Most of the time we are absolutely unaware of the same. The way we talk, walk, sit, our gesture, posture, we hardly look into it deliberately. So checking our own body language through videos, photos is very important. And if one realizes there are flaws, one should take absolute efforts to correct it. Few habits like sitting, standing, walking straight, we have to cultivate within us.

(5) What activities would you like to recommend for the improvement of communication skills and personality development?

Most important activity is reading. Reading not only develops your vocabulary but generates various ideas in your brain. A well-read person is always confident in finding words for communication.

Meeting new people, interacting with them also helps our communication. It gives you an idea about, how to interact with different kind of people.

Listening good speeches, content is also important for developing good communication skill.

(6) Being a RJ, copywriter, translator, lecturer, mother and also a student, how do you manage time for everything?

I always feel, if you have passion for something, you manage to get time for the same. Though all this fields seems to be different, I feel they are correlated and supportive to each other. My RJng becomes easy because I'm writer. Writing provides various new ideas, content to my RJng. Same time being translator I play with words which supports my writing. If you can connect different fields like this, it not only saves your time but one field enriches other.

(7) What preparations must an individual do while preparing for NET?

Exam oriented approach is not something helpful for clearing NET. It requires attitude of Persuading knowledge. Overall from school days till your last degree whatever you learned, was that for marks? Or for getting knowledge of particular topic? That attitude defines the success in NET.

(8) What qualities must an individual possess while entering the corporate world?

Not only corporate but while entering in any profession, sincerity, hard work, punctuality and interest are the qualities those matters the most. Let go or "Chalata Hai" attitude never leads to successful career.

(9) You inspire many students including us so would you like to give any message to our readers

I'm not so great to give advice but friendly suggestion I would like to share with my own experience. Whatever career you pursue in your life, enjoy it. And try to give 100% in that. And don't stop seeing dreams. As our late Missile man Dr. APJ Abdul Kalam said, "Dream! Dream! Dream. When you dream, you think about it and when you think about it, you try to act upon it."

(10) And lastly, what are your expectations from your students?

No pressure i would like put on my students with expectations. Be the way you are. But college life is the best time of your life. So do come to college and enjoy every moment. These days you won't get back even if you'll beg for it. So my small expectation is, be there in the classes. Enjoy every lecture. Don't be just bookworm. Explore yourself in all possible ways. And then I'm sure you'll be ready steady to rock the coming future.

RBI BANS PAYTM

-By Aditi Mane TYBAF B

The journey of Paytm started in 2010 as a mobile recharging platform. However, over time, the company added more features to its app. In January 2014, Paytm Wallet was introduced, which led to a significant increase in the company's popularity after the demonetization on November 8th, 2016. According to a report by Euro Money, Paytm had 125 million customers before demonetization, but after three months, the number rose to approximately 185 million. In 2017, Paytm launched its payment bank, offering banking services, but it was restricted from providing credit card and loan services by the RBI. Unlike normal commercial banks, which have no deposit limit, payments banks like Paytm are limited to accepting deposits of up to ₹200,000. As a result, on January 31st, 2024, the RBI imposed operational restrictions on Paytm's payment bank due to repeated violations of rules. The central bank stated that there was "persistent non-compliance" by Paytm, leading to the closure of all nodal accounts with the payments bank by March 15th, 2024. Existing balances in Paytm Wallet could still be used, but no further deposits could be made after February 29th. This decision was not taken lightly, as the RBI had been warning Paytm for years, but the company failed to rectify its actions. In November 2017, Paytm's payment bank was launched, and by June 2018, the RBI had issued its first warning, citing non-compliance with anti-money laundering regulations and improper verification of customer identities. The RBI prohibited Paytm from onboarding new customers until these issues were resolved, and the company was allowed to resume onboarding in January 2019 after taking action. However, in October 2021, Paytm was fined ₹10 million for providing incorrect information and documents while

This was followed by another fine of ₹50 million in October 2023, but Paytm failed to comply with the regulatory requirements, leading to the suspension of its operations on January 31st, 2024. The RBI's findings were alarming, as hundreds of thousands of customers had opened bank accounts with Paytm without proper KYC documentation, and there were multiple cases of customers using the same PAN card to open multiple accounts. This raised concerns about potential money laundering and data privacy. Additionally, the RBI found that there was no operational segregation between Paytm's parent company, One 97 Communications Ltd, and its payment bank, and undisclosed cash flow between the two. As a result, many customers withdrew their investments, causing Paytm's stock to crash. Economic Times reported that an executive of the company told them that, the company may change its business model from a bank to a third-party payment's app, which would require significant changes in a limited time. The biggest challenge for Paytm would be to regain the trust of its customers, but the company must first convince the RBI. There is a possibility of another company acquiring Paytm's wallet business, with reports suggesting that HDFC Bank and Jio Financial Services could be potential buyers. However, Jio has denied these speculations saying they have no intentions do so. And anyways before executing such a sale they would require RBI's approval.

Unified Payment Interface (U.P.I) a Game Changer in the Digital Payments System in India

-By Monika Chowdhari TYBAF C

Introduction -

UPI is a single-window mobile payment system created by the National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI). It makes sending money simpler as it removes the need to enter bank details and other personal information when making transactions.

UPI is also a real-time payment method which facilitates peer-to-peer and peer to merchant bank transfers between account holders from different banks. The interface is regulated by India's central bank RBI.

Background -

The National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI), which oversees the management of India's retail payment and settlement systems, was responsible for creating UPI.

On April 11, 2016, Raghuram Rajan, the governor of the Reserve Bank of India at the time, gave it its official debut.

Launch of Beta (April 2016): UPI was launched gradually, with a small number of banks taking part in the first phase to evaluate the effectiveness of the system.

Public Release (August 2016): Users from many banks could now establish a single

How it works -

It's simple to use UPI. First, go to the app store on your smartphone and download an app that supports UPI. Create a distinct Virtual Payment Address and register using your bank information (VPA). Enter the recipient's VPA and amount, then double-check using your UPI PIN to complete the transaction .

The users get a hassle-free experience because the cash are transferred immediately, around-the-clock.

Features -

1. UPI payments are very fast, and typically, payment can be completed within seconds.
2. Almost every bank allows UPI transactions through mobile applications.
3. UPI Payment facility allows individuals to request money from some other individual, which is not an option with other payment methods like IMPS, NEFT.
4. These mobile payment applications also offer the facility of bill payments.
5. Payments can be made 24*7.
6. It's completely free.

Market share -

UPI accounts for over 75 percent of all retail digital transactions in India. It has around 330 million unique users. Over 70 million merchants actively utilise UPI, using 256 million QR codes.

As per a report U.P.I has seen over $1.7 trillion worth transactions in fiscal year 2023

Challenges -

UPI presents a number of difficulties, such as security risks like fraud and phishing, technological difficulties that impair transactions, problems with interoperability between various UPI apps, and sporadic UPI system outages that negatively effect user experience in general. Furthermore obstacles pertaining to regulatory modifications and guaranteeing extensive implementation among diverse user groups could arise.

5 Major changes in U.P.I from 1st January 2024 -

1. Payment apps have been directed by the National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI) to remove dormant UPI IDs after a year. In addition to making sure their UPI IDs are still active, users of services like Google Pay and PhonePe need to check the inactivity of the phone numbers linked to their accounts.
2. NPCI declared that 'UPI for Secondary Market' will soon enter its Beta stage of development. Important parties are working together to enable a small number of pilot customers to block money, which are deducted at settlement upon transaction confirmation and payouts are handled by Clearing Corporations on a T 1 basis.
3. The Reserve Bank of India has raised the UPI transaction limit for hospitals and educational institutions from ₹1,000 to ₹5 lakh. This change, following the meeting of the Monetary Policy Committee, will facilitate more online payments for education and health services.
4. RBI plans nationwide rollout of UPI ATMs, enabling cash withdrawal by scanning a QR code. Hitachi Payment Services has already introduced the country's first UPI ATM as White Label ATM (WLA).
5. RBI offers a 4-hour grace period for users making first payments above ₹2,000 to new payees. This window allows users to cancel or edit transactions started with someone they haven't done with before, adding an extra level of control and security

Conclusion -

Unified Payments Interface has not only transformed the way transactions are conducted in India but has also set a global benchmark for efficient, secure, and inclusive digital payment systems. Its journey from inception to widespread adoption reflects the evolving landscape of financial technology making UPI a cornerstone in India's digital payment revolution,

Yoga Day

-By Bhumika Nandivadekar TYBAF B

An invaluable gift of ancient Indian tradition, Yoga has emerged as one of the most trusted means to boost physical and mental well-being. The word "Yoga" is derived from the Sanskrit root yuj meaning "to join", "to yoke" or "to unite", symbolizing the unity of mind and body; thought and action; restraint and fulfilment; harmony between human and nature, and a holistic approach to health and well-being. Yoga, originating in ancient India, is a holistic discipline that integrates the body, mind, and spirit through physical postures, breathing exercises, and meditation. It promotes physical health, mental clarity, and emotional balance, offering a pathway to inner peace and well-being. The history of yoga spans thousands of years, originating in ancient India around 5,000 years ago. Its roots can be traced back to the Indus Valley civilization, where archaeologists have discovered seals depicting figures in yoga-like postures. Over centuries, yoga evolved through various philosophies, texts, and teachings, including the Vedas, Upanishads, and the Yoga Sutras of Patanjali, which codified classical yoga. Throughout its history, yoga has been practiced as a spiritual, mental, and physical discipline, aiming to unite the individual consciousness with the universal consciousness. In the 19th and 20th centuries, yoga gained popularity worldwide, adapted and integrated into diverse cultures, and is now recognized as a beneficial practice for holistic health and well-being. The 10th International Day of Yoga (IDY 24) was celebrated with the theme "Yoga for Self & Society" on the morning of 21 Jun 24 by the Indian Naval Admiral Dinesh K Tripathi, the Chief of the Naval Staff and Mrs. Shashi Tripathi, President Navy Welfare & Wellness Association attended the Yoga Session at Chanakya Bagh, New Delhi. As part of IDY celebration, Common Yoga Protocol sessions were conducted onboard naval ships at sea and in harbours including at foreign ports.

Naval personnel including defence civilians and their family members enthusiastically participated in especially conducted yoga programmes on this day. May we continue to embrace and integrate the teachings of Yoga into our lives, fostering a healthier, balanced, and more resilient campus environment.
